Good Shepherd musical receives rave reviews

Performing The Sound of Music to sold-out crowds, Good Shepherd students and staff have been overwhelmed by rave reviews from audiences over the weekend.

Held at the Performing Arts Centre at Noosaville State School, the musical was a real spectacle with vibrant sets, amazing costumes and an all singing, dancing and acting ensemble.

Accompanied by the Noosa Orchestra, conducted by Antoni Bonetti, the whole venue was literally alive with The Sound of Music.

"Students and staff have been overwhelmed by the positive feedback received following the three musical performances on Friday night and Saturday," said College Principal Anthony Dyer.

"It shows the great things our young people are capable of when encouraged and supported by peers, staff and family. I have nothing but praise for everyone and this has been echoed in the words of musical goers over the weekend," he said.

Audience members described the event as "an awesome opening night", saying "the students were entertaining, sets beautiful and the orchestra absolutely amazing".

The show was also described as "very professional" and "all students and staff should be very proud."
